Five Events One Novelty In Sun. Races

The Sixth running of the Pebble Beach National Sports Car Road Races, scheduled for Sunday, April 17, wil feature five events, one a sentimental novelty, a 5-lap race for vintage cars, including a 1909 Benz, 1909 Mercedes, 1910 Simplex, 1910 Pope Hartford, Buick, and 1914 Cadillac.

Sports car races begin at 10:30 a.m. for production cars under 1500 c.c. displacement followed by one for production cars over 1500 c.c., 10 laps each. The 100 mile Pebble Beach Cup Race, for modified cars under 1500 c.c., will get under way at 1:00 p.m. At 2:00 the Del Monte Trophy Race for modified cars over 1500 c.c., 100 miles, will admit the first, second and third place overall winners from the previous event.

The field this year is about the most imposing yet seen on this popular 2.1, three-lined circuit. A special favorite at Pebble Beach, Sterling Edwards, 1954 Del Monte Trophy winner, will be on hand with a new Monza Ferrari. Ken

Pat Grimshaw and Buz Knight, masters of ceremony for the Sixth Annual Youth Follies, receive final instructions from Lloyd Weer, director, and Bonnie Giles, co-ordinater. Tomorrow and Saturday night, at Sunset Auditorium, 8:00 o'clock, Carmel Youth Center members produce their annual variety show, heady and bright as spring itself, with its cast of 170 teen agers, the prettiest chorus line, the hystericalist comedians, the talentedest dancers, the melodiest singers, the bounciest tumblers . . . a two-hour show of practically everything our Carmel Kids have and they have everything.

As usual, Paramount Studios, through the courtesy of Bing Crosby, has furnished the costumes; Bing and his writers, the script. Ticket sales will help defray costs of running the Youth Center.

Salk Anti-Polio Vaccines To Be Given Here Monday

Carmel first and second grade youngsters will be the first on the Peninsula to receive the Salk anti-polio vaccine with centers to be set up Monday morning in Carmel Woods School, Carmel River School and Carmel Mission School for children from Carmel Valley and coast schools.

Eligible children whose parents have sent in written requests will be the first to be vaccinated in the recommended series of three. Dr. Jonas Salk has recommended the second series be given two to four weeks following the first, with a booster to follow in seven months.

Children in the first and second grade age group have been selected for the first shots because they are most susceptible to polio. Supplies of the vaccine will be available through doctors for private innoculation in a matter of a few days in limited amounts, while there is expected to be an unlimited supply in about six weeks.

Chief Klaumann Picks New Patrolman Out Of The Trees

George Arthur Vargas went to work for the Carmel Police Department Monday night as a probationary patrolman. Chief of Police Clyde Klaumann literally picked him out of the trees. Vargas, employed as a tree topper for Everett Smith, was one of the crew taking the pines off the lot opposite the police station at Mission and Seventh, two weeks ago, when Klaumann spotted him in

CARMEL LIONS BOWLING TEAM TAKES SECOND PLACE

The newly-formed Carmel Lions Club Bowling Team is assured of second place in the night Owl League at the Monterey Bowling Alley. Although this is their first attempt at league play, they have slowly gone from next to last place to the runnerups of the league with only one game to play.

Tonight at 7:15 o'clock at the Monterey Bowl, they play the first place team which is only two games ahead of the Carmel Lions. Should the Carmel Lions win the four games tonight, they will win the championship and the Par 45 team will take second place.

If they take three out of four games, they will bowl off the tie, playing four more games the same night.

Captain of the Lions team is Dr. Donald M. Peterson. Regular team members include Murle Ogden, Joe Oenning, Tony Vasconcellos, and Jack Belvail. Members of the Lions Club who have substituted on the team are: Dr. Wm. Coughlin, Ralph Norton and Samuel Coleman.

All interested persons are invited to attend the final game of the league, tonight at the Monterey Bowl at 7:15 o'clock.

CARMEL TRACK TEAM HOSTS KING CITY SATURDAY

Carmel High's lightweight and varsity track squads return to action this Saturday as they match the swift and strong King City squads at the Carmel track. The visiting Mustangs have some brilliant performers on both squads and will be favored to edge the Padres in both divisions. One of the swiftest tracksters in Northern California, Jim Pettit, runs the sprints for the blue and white lightweights and his duel with Carmel's Bob Alvarez should be one of the real highlights of the meet. Both of these lads are threatening league records in the dashes and could get the job done this Saturday. Don Petty, Carmel's ace lightweight shot-putter, is also shooting for the CCAL shot-put record. This little muscleman is nearing 60-feet in the 8-pound shot event, having a best of 56-9 in the recent meet with Gilroy.

Saturday's meet gets underway at 1:30 and the public is invited —free.

PADRE NINE AT KING CITY

Sporting a 1-1 record in their two league games this season, the Carmel High varsity baseball team journeys to King City this afternoon for a league joust with the hard-hitting Mustangs. Carmel dumped Hollister in their first league outing but were upset by Pacific Grove in their second game. King City has a veteran team with fair pitching, good fielding, and terrific hitting power. Big stick of the Mustang attack is Tasos Melitis, the CCAL's best all-around athlete, who hits a real long ball swinging from the port side. Melitis is also the top pitcher on the Mustang squad which has whipped Gonzales and lost to Live Oak in two league contests.

Carmel has a trio of right-handers ready to throw at the Mustangs and any of the three is capable of hurling creditable ball. Dick Jennings, winner over San Jose's James Lick High during Easter vacation, is the likely choice to start if he is over a bout with the flu bug. However, Bill Powell and Mike Mosolf are set for action and will fling them over if the steady Jennings is sidelined.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone.

CIRCLING THE BASES

The lights are on at Sunset Field and local softballers are slating practice sessions nearly every night. Tonight, at 7:30, Paul Artellan puts a brand new team, Clayton Cleaners, through a two-hour practice to prepare for outside competition. Joe Nicholson, Pine Cone skipper, has already greeted his charges at the cozy ball orchard and has slated another muscle-loosener for Monday night. Both Paul and Joe are anxious for class A softball players to visit Sunset Field and have a tryout with the teams. . . .

Coach Jim Tidwell's MPC horse-traders start league play tomorrow afternoon, meeting the San Jose JC in a double-header at the Lobo diamond. With fair defense, good hitting down the middle, and average pitching, the Lobos are a dangerous aggregation capable of exploding for a lot of runs in any inning . . Carmel High's barnstorming baseball team went from the sublime to the ridiculous on their trip through Northern California. At San Jose, the Carmel lads played perfect ball to beat the strong James Lick nine, 1 to 0, as Dick Jennings hurled brilliant ball and scored the winning run on a perfect run-and-hit play. However, the next day in the little village of Winters, the Padres blew sky-high to make 14 glaring errors and get trampled, 15 to 1. Mike Mosolf, Carmel's gangling right-hander, was the pitcher in this one and his deliveries were no mystery to the sharpshooting Winters Warriors. The next day at Davis, Carmel played the Cal-Aggie junior-varsity and had an 8-7 lead when the 5 o'clock deadline was reached. Dick Jennings also notched the win against the Aggies, showing exceptional control and good stuff in the pinches. Paul Fratessa, lanky Padre first-sacker, was the big bat-wielder for the Carmel nine, hitting 2 for 3 and driving in three runs. . . .

Pitcher Dick Jennings and second-baseman Jim Konrad worked the reliable Carmel pickoff play twice against James Lick to help snuff out threatening Comet rallies. Perfect teamwork and timing has made this maneuver a vital element in the Padre's infield defense. . . . Palma High of Salinas evened a score with Carmel last Tuesday afternoon, edging the Padre nine, 5 to 4, in a fast well-played game. Carmel outhit the winners, 10 to 6, but 8 walks by Padre pitcher, Mike Mosolf, made the going easy for the Palma lads. Highlight for the Carmel squad was a solid 2 for 2 batting record racked up by Tim O'Shea, a freshman outfielder. Playing his first varsity game, the smooth-swinging lefty played errorless ball in the field and helped himself to a double and single at the plate. Paul Fratessa continued his hitting spree in this one, getting 2 for 3 against Palma's fast-balling right-hander. . . . Santa Cruz High of the A division CCAL comes to Carmel next Tuesday for a practice tilt with the Padres—game time: 4 o'clock.

The Needler

By Beth

Now that we are borrowing a leaf from the handbook of early day missionaries on Pacific Islands—"put clothes on the natives"—I wish to be the first to apply for the Mother Hubbard concession in Carmel. With the city's permission, I shall set up stands at entrances to the shopping district and rent out gunny sacks, cut with a hole for the head and two for the arms, and our young people will be clothed from neck to knee according to the suggestion made at last week's council meeting. Of course, if I had MY way, the Carmel blue stocking law would read something like this: "Abbreviated beach clothes are to be worn only by those who look well in them." Judges, of course, might present a problem, but I would appoint a non-partisan committee consisting of Hank Ketcham, Harrison Godwin and Lou Nicoud.

The Youth Follies parade which took place through Carmel's business district on Tuesday noon caused excitement in at least one Carmel household. The Pine Cone's phone rang, and a woman asked in an excited voice: "What's all the band playing and horn tooting up town? I haven't heard such a noise since the end of World War II!"

* * *

And, speaking of the parade, we also heard a woman remark that it was a sight to see and that we should have more of them. I heartily agree, but must also add, that it did nothing to solve Carmel's traffic problem. Some of the horn-tooting, I regret to say, was done by irate motorists on their way to more (or less) important things. Away with the traffic, I cry, and let's have more parades and more kids and more gaiety throughout our Village streets!

* * *

Carlyle (I believe it was) once said something like this: "Stolen fruits are sweet, but undeserved rewards are exquisite." This applies almost everywhere but in a newspaper, so it is with chagrin that we apologize to Lt. Col. Bruce Hanger for saying, in last week's issue, that he is a West Point graduate. He hastened to tell us it was not so, but that he had entered the Army as a reserve officer in June of 1942 and was retired in 1947.

Friend of mine, driving through Salinas the other day, saw a sign on a small store front which impressed her no end. The little shop, advertising tortillas, tamales and such to take out is called The Mexicatessen.

Howard Levinson To Open New Men's Store Here Tomorrow

A new men's furnishings store, to be called Howard Brunn's, will open tomorrow in the recently-remodeled Pine Inn shop formerly occupied by David and Arthur's. Owner of the new store is Howard Brunn Levinson.

Levinson is a member of the Honorable Order of "I Was A Carmel Kid." The son of the late Louis Levinson and Mrs. Helen Levinson, he was born in San Francisco but raised in Carmel. He attended Sunset School and Carmel High School, and upon graduating he entered the air force and became a pilot during World War II. He participated in the Italian - European campaigns and left the service at the close of the war in 1945.

Always active in Carmel little theater work, he later studied drama and radio work in Los Angeles and Hollywood. He met his wife-to-be there in theater work, and they returned to Carmel to make their home here. They are parents of two children, David and Robin.

On the Peninsula, Howard was, for a time, connected with the Monterey Police Department and from there took a position with Glennon's in Carmel, where he worked for three years. He later became manager of Robert Kirk's here.

In his new store, he will feature shirts, sweaters, pajamas and other clothing items, including the locally-made Talbot ties. He recently returned from a buying trip in New York, and the results of this trip will be on display when the doors are open tomorrow morning.

Tree, Business Signs And Licenses

In addition to the decisions reported in last week's Pine Cone, the Carmel City Council at its regular meeting April 6, took the following action on trees, signs and business licenses.

Hallie Sampson was given permission to trim the second pine north of Eighth on the east side of San Antonio, under the supervision of Street Superintendent William Askew, but the council said no to Miss Sampson's request to trim the black acacia on the west side of Dolores at Eighth. The acacias look fine and do not seem to need trimming this year thought the council, which inspected the trees Tuesday on their regular pre-council meeting tree tour. They also pointed out that the oak tree on the southwest corner of Monte Verde and Eleventh seems to be in good condition; that new growth has come out since Mrs. Kate Matheson asked for permission to trim it, and suggested that Mrs. Matheson continue to water it. Mrs. H. H. Schaaps was told that she could remove branches of a tree growing on her own property without seeking approval of the council but she was advised to consult with the street superintendent, who was authorized to remove one low branch from the oak in question which is obstructing the sidewalk.

Fire District Wins Approval Of County Board Of Supervisors

The Monterey County Board of Supervisors at the public hearing last Monday approved the formation of a fire district in Carmel's unincorporated area. Three commissioners recommended by Carmel Unincorporated were also appointed. They are J. O. Handley, Carmel Woods; James T. Lowsley, Hatton Fields Mesa and A. C. Weimann of the Mission Tract.

The only voiced opposition at the meeting was from R. R. West, Carmel engineer, who felt that the formation of such a district would cause too great an increase in tax rates.

The district itself, according to an interpretation from the district attorney's office, will not have taxing powers or authority to levy taxes without the approval of voters in the areas involved.

The appointed commissioners will serve until 1956, since an election would have had to be held on the second Monday in April, and the district could not be set up by that time. The commissioners will decide upon a fire protection plan, part of which they hope will be an agreement with the City of Carmel.

Fire And Snake Calls

Carmel Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call from Mrs. Frank Castagna, Santa Fe and Ocean Avenue, Sunday evening. Frank, going into the garage of their house on Santa Fe and Occean Avenue found the wiring afire in the engine of his car. By the time the fire department arrived with its equipment, Frank had put out the fire with a squirt from the garden hose, but it could have been serious, if not discovered when it was, was the opinion of the fire department.

State Division of Forestry fire crew had its noon hour calm at the Carmel Hill Station disturbed Monday with a call on a brush fire at Pebble Beach. Crew put it out and returned to hang up the hose on the highway bridge to dry. About a fourth of an acre was burned over.

Carmel Highlands and Carmel Valley departments didn't have a single call all week but they're not complaining. Monterey's equipment streamed out Wednesday afternoon all set for a great cannery holocaust when they got the alarm from the Atlantic Fish Company's plant at Ocean View. The automatic signal had gone off but it was steam from the normal operation of the plant that had been the initiating agent.

Seaside had a busy time with two fire alarms and one snake call. The fire calls, both this morning: sparks from an incinerator ignited a canopy from a pick-up truck which in turn ignited the nearby fence. At this point the fire department arrived and put a stop to the chain progression. A housewife cleaned out her fireplace, put hot ashes in a cardboard carton and put the carton against her garage. Fire department put out the resulting conflagration before more than $100 damage was done.

The snake call came from Albert Jacobs, 1232 Luzern Avenue about 3:30 yesterday afternoon. He'd found a snake, species unidentified, in one of the rooms of his house and before he could do anything about it, the intruder had escaped through a hole in the floor. Jacobs wanted the fire department to remove the snake. The fire department, responding, found that it was impossible to reach the snake under the house but decided if they kept very quiet and waited, maybe the snake would come up again through the floor. Where it did, they squirted it with the C. O. fire extinguisher which froze it into immobility. Snake is still unclassified but they know one thing for sure. It isn't a rattler.

Lions Make Final Plans For Annual Youth Fund Show

On April 23 at the Mission Ranch, the Carmel Lions will present their annual youth fund Big Show. Eben Whittlesey, president of the club, promises even a better show this year than the top-notch performances of the past.

There will be a two-hour variety program of musical and comedy acts, talent all from the Monterey Peninsula, primarily from the Lions Club itself.

An evening of dancing will follow the show with the usual Country Store activities going on between dances when over 100 prizes are distributed. There are several large door prizes, also, to be given away after the show, including a combination radio-hifi phonograph, a portable radio, and a clock radio.

Tickets are available from any Lion Club member.

Mayer's New Book Explains Nazi Mind, Urges Pacificism

By Marjory Lloyd

How ten everyday citizens of the town of Kronenburg in Germany were led into the beliefs of Naziism, is the basis on which Milton Mayer, of Carmel, builds his book, published last week, They Thought They Were Free. Mayer talked extensively with these people who had become his friends during his year's stay in their town, and conclusively shows that personal and material gain and a sense of belonging to a strong group can blind even an intelligent citizen to dictatorial trends within the state and definitely shape political thinking.

This is a book that is written for thinking persons and comes at a time when Americans can aptly apply much of the material to situations within their own country—a timely warning.

In conclusion, the author offers no solution to the problem of Germany and the world but suggests several courses that might and could, perhaps, be followed. He states that "the relief of the Germans, at whatever sacrifice of immediate national interest, would create the possibility of saving civilization." That it is "risky to let people alone. But it is riskier still to press my ten Nazi friends —and their seventy million countrymen—to re-embrace militarist anti-Communism as a way of national life."

Conservation On The March

A Weekly Column by
C. Edward Graves
Western Representative,
National Parks Association

Asilomar was the scene two weeks ago of the Pacific Coast convention of the National Audubon Society. Many people think that the Audubon Society is concerned only with bird study. Attendance at this convention would have quickly changed the mind of anyone holding those ideas. Some brief comments on the program will illustrate the broad conservation objectives of the Society.

Mr. Kenneth D. Morrison, Editor of the Audubon Magazine and Director of Public Information for the Society, attended the convention as the representative of the New York headquarters. In opening his talk on Federal Current Conservation Issues he reviewed the history of the Society, which this year is celebrating its Fiftieth Anniversary, and brought out the fact, as the Society's President, John H. Baker, had done on previous occasions, that there would be no birds to study unless their habitat was protected by modern conservation methods. Plant life and animal life are inseparately connected and the right use of land, which is the basis of conservation, involves a study of every aspect of nature. Birds are one important consideration, but only one, and the Audubon Society's objectives cover the whole field of conservation activities.

The California Conservation Council, under the able guidance of Miss Pearl Chase of Santa Barbara, Executive Vice-President, held a three-hour session on the first afternoon of the convention. A round-table discussion of various conservation problems occupied the first two hours. There followed two picture showings, one by this writer on National Parks in the News and one by the California Department of Fish and Game on the demise of the sardine industry, a conservation epic.

In the evening there was an address by Dr. Walter P. Taylor of Claremont, now retired from many years of work with the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service. His subject, Nature Around Us, emphasized the friendliness of the natural world when we work with it instead of opposing natural processes. This is one of the chief tenets of conservationists.

The second day brought field trips and two simultaneous afternoon programs. I chose the one called Pictures with a Purpose by Bill and Mary Hood, nature photographers. This husband-and-wife team from their varied experience showed color slides and photographic equipment that illustrated effective methods to be used by conservation workers.

In the evening the annual banquet filled the banquet hall at Carmel's Mission Ranch. Mr. Morrison was the main speaker on the subject: Audubon in the Spotlight — a Conservation Opportunity. Following his talk Wanda Elvin, Director of the Research Department of the Walt Disney Studios, told us of the methods used by the Studios in producing True Life Adventures, illustrating with sequences from Nature's Half Acre without and with the music and narration. The full length film, Water Birds, was then shown.

The morning of the third day was devoted entirely to a discussion of state and federal conservation issues. This was followed by field trips, which were continued the next morning. It was a varied and well-planned program, open to anyone interested in ornithology or conservation.

Letters To The Editor

Carmel, April 11, 1955

Dear Mrs. Cook:

I have often noticed with shame how quick I am to complain if any of our public servants' conduct displeases me and how rarely I mention the faithful service that they render to me, as part of our community, year in and year out. I imagine many, many people feel as I do and that I am expressing their opinions when I ask you for space in the Pine Cone to say how much we appreciate the work of Police Chief Clyde Klaumann and his assistants.

The Easter holiday week found Carmel crowded with visitors far beyond the idea of any of its original planners. To deal with so many strangers, to restrain the natural rashness of young visitors was no easy problem, I am sure. The police, it seemed to this observer, behaved with a tact, skill and kindness which deserves our warmest praise and thanks.

Sincerely yours,
Harriet Keen Roberts

To Whom it May Concern:

It is to be hoped that the Carmel City Council will give a second thought to the proposed "neck-to-knee-be-ye-clothed" ordinance.

Surely its members do not wish to legislate against youth, health, and happiness.

To me, such a proposed law is as contrary to the concepts of a true Carmelite as chopping down trees or otherwise destroying the beauty of the place I love.

For some 23 years I have enjoyed the "Easter Parade" of healthy, happy, partially clad boys and girls, in and about Ocean Avenue—and I'm not a lecherous old man either.

What would Perry Newberry have thought of such a proposition? I was privileged to know him, at least briefly, and rented his house in Hatton Fields about 23 years ago. I believe his thoughts would parallel mine on this matter.

I'll bet a lot of youngsters and oldsters who are young in heart—and there are many such in Carmel—would and will object to this attempted invasion of personal rights and happiness.

Haven't we too many laws? Our government officials, local and otherwise, should ever be cautious to represent and not rule.

The Penal Code of the State of California (Section 311) provides in part as follows: "Lewdness and Obscenity—Every person who wilfully and lewdly . . . 1. Exposes his person, or the private parts thereof, in any public place, or in any place where there are present other persons to be offended or annoyed thereby . . . is guilty of a misdemeanor." This should cover the situation without another ordinance.

A few may be offended by the sight of a sun-tanned torso, but such a few, in this village of ours by the sea. There are not too many sunny days when it is comfortable to stroll down Ocean Avenue in a pair of shorts. And, ye gods, why increase the problems of the police, which such an ordinance would present.

GET OFF THE DIME!

George is not really getting older, it's just that he has other, more important things on his mind at this time of year — how to get below 90 around the golf course, whether or not to trade in the car on one of the flashy new models. Besides, a garden is more properly in the woman's realm. . . . But maybe it would be a nice place to relax this summer.

All it takes to make over your backyard into a flowery, sunlit retreat is the right stimulation (in this case, a disparaging remark), a little bit of effort, healthy soil conditions and the right amount of water.

The last requisite is the least worry of all. Just turn on the faucet and let the hose and sprinkler do the job for you.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new coaster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week – but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Bud and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

Silliman Promises To Avoid Litter Bug Campaign Techniques

A special meeting of the Monterey County Republican Central Committee was held in the Supervisor's Chambers in the Court House in Salinas last night, where the Monterey County Central Committee passed a unanimous resolution to back former speaker of the house, James Silliman of Salinas, " one hundred percent" for the office of state senator from this district.

Silliman speaking of his campaign said that he would not be a "political litter bug" and put quarter cards and smaller material on the power and telephone poles in the county. He stated that "the people of Monterey County no longer needed this type of campaigning to help them decide who is the most qualified", and that he would limit his advertising to newspaper, television and radio.

The committee heard a report from George Tomlinson of Carmel, Congressman Teague's field representative in the Thirteenth District, who told of Teague's visit to this area, inspecting Fort Ord and the Army Language School for purposes of gaining additional funds for permanent buildings on the two posts. He also interviewed hardship cases and listened to many of his constituents on their wishes regarding legislation affecting this area.

Capt. Gleason's Report

By VIRGINIA SHAW

Atomic blasts, according to a current aphorism, come in three sizes: small, medium, and where's everybody? The extent of the devastation which would result from a possible enemy A-bomb attack on this continent would be almost impossible to calculate, but as long as the possibility of such an attack exists, it must be faced realistically. Locally, the responsibility for preparing and coordinating plans for a potential atomic emergency rests on Captain H. M. Gleason (USN-Ret.), whose official title is Assistant Civilian Defense Director for the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Captain Gleason, who doesn't personally feel that there's much chance of the Russians launching an atomic attack on this country, has been a Carmel resident for nearly 22 years, and for the past five of those years has devoted increasingly more of his time to Civilian Defense. This week, in the small front office in the city hall which serves as Carmel's Civilian Defense headquarters, Captain Gleason was tabulating the results of billeting survey. This survey, which has been made in similar communities all over the country, reflects a new attitude which has entered the Civilian Defense picture in regard to an atomic emergency. "Up until recently the general attitude was look out for ourselves; now the idea is looking out for others," says Captain Gleason.

The survey was made with the assistance of the members of the Carmel Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs and All Saints' Brotherhood. Through it, Captain Gleason has been able to determine approximately how many evacuees could be taken care of here on a temporary basis in the event of an atomic emergency. Both San Francisco and Oakland would undoubtedly be primary target areas in any A- or H-bomb attack on the Pacific Coast; those who did not perish and were able to get away would head either for the interior or along the coast. Carmel is far enough removed from these potential target areas not to suffer any direct damage from an atomic disaster, and, barring a strong north wind, to escape dangerous radioactive fallout. It would be one of hundreds of small communities to which refugees would turn for sanctuary until they could be systematically relocated.

The billeting reports represented 117 families in Carmel and contiguous areas, totaling 339 individuals. According to their answers, 300 dispersed persons could be accommodated in these 117 homes, and an additional 280 in garages, guest houses, etc. Only nine of the 117 said they would not be able to serve meals to evacuees under the conditions stated.

The estimated population of Carmel and the unincorporated areas immediately adjacent to it (this does not include Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach or the Highlands) is 5200. Scaling his statistical cross-section to this figure, Captain Gleason estimates that a total of 8897 people could be given temporary quarters in residences and other private buildings. This is augmented by an additional 1331 accommodations which, according to a special events survey made by the Carmel Board of Realtors in 1951, are available in hotels, motels, guest homes and apartments.

A grand total of 10,228 persons—nearly double the normal population of Carmel—is Captain Gleason's final estimate of the number of evacuees who could be billeted here in the event of an atomic emergency. This number, he believes, would not overtax the city's water supply (providing the water was not contaminated by radiation), sewers, gas or other utilities. Difficulties might arise over two commodities: food and gasoline. However, he anticipates that grocery stores and gas stations would be temporarly closed at the outbreak of an emergency to discourage hoarding, and would be reopened as soon as it could be decided how

ON A PIECE OF DRIFTWOOD

Ask the sea what kind of wood it is.
Such drenching salt has baffled all I know
Of telling trees by smell. Let the emptying waves,
In their high white confessionals reveal
What this anonymous voyager was named
In blowing wood or field. Look, it has come
So orphaned to my hand of earthly seasons
Not a hollow shell is more imbued
With these sad exequies that dress the rocks
With weeds. Let the steep waterfalls
Tell up the loud beach how they can change
Earth's liveries to the sea's, and ring by ring
Wash out the long remembrance of a tree.
But in that hush between them let there fall
Some inkling of a rooted heritage,
Of that green name this nameless derelict
Once told through singular fragrance like a flower.

—ERIC BARKER.

PRAYER AFTER EASTER

O let no thought but what is good be left
To these that are the young, the children who
Are with us here beneath a sky so blue
It is as though there is no heart bereft.
The pink buds break, the branches are weighed down
With promise of a rich fruit-ripened Fall,
Wherein no hunger is. O let a small
And humble voice be heard. There is a town,
A town of seed-green fields and hills, and there
A young lad was. He must remember much
Of olive trees in Spring, of the warm touch
Of sun upon a lad's back brown and bare.
It is to him this prayer . . . that peace shall be
Upon the earth as fruit upon the tree.

—CLAIRE AVEN THOMSON.

SEED OF YESTERDAY

The seed of yesterday lives in to-morrow,
Brave, rugged blossom reaching to infinity.
Radiant, vital, timeless; rich in essential truth.
Upward it sweeps, ever expanding, symbol of life to come.
Born of eternal beauty, deathless and free.

—CHARLES SHAW.

THE LITTLE HILLS

The little hils like upturned bowls all stand
Upon the valley floor. Their sides are done
In gold and blue by some great potter's hand,
That left them here to dry beneath the sun.
The green of wild oats shimmers in the wind,
And under foot there rises from the clay
An incense of the earth that flowers lend
Their fragrance. This breezy April day
Has lived for half by life within my mind.
The picture has, I know, been changed with years,
The hills once smooth and green with youth are lined.
With roads of age, but I will shed no tears.
For though I know the seasons all take wing,
The little hills are always bright with spring.

In Praise Of Wine

By HARRIET KEAN ROBERTS

(Editor's Note: The following is a contributed article and does not necessarily represent the opinion of the editor or reflect the policy of this paper. Spirit drinkers who take exception to some of Mrs. Roberts' statements, and people of temperance convictions who think there is little to choose between one or another of the alcoholic beverages, will be given equal space in the Pine Cone to express their opinions, if they wish.)

We human beings are happily so constituted that we enjoy both the strange and the familiar; we love what we have long known about and enjoy what is new to us. We look forward with hope to the future and backwards with interest to life as our ancestors lived it. We like to enjoy ourselves and also to be kind to others.

All these pleasures can be enjoyed next Sunday week, April 24. For on that afternoon, from 3:00 to 6:00 o'clock, there will be a gala Wine Tasting Party. Our pleasure in a new experience will be gratified because it is the first time, on the Monterey Peninsula, that the finest of imported wines, French and German, will have been offered for our tasting. Our delight in what is old will be satisfied by remembering the long and honorable pasts of these great wines and by the setting of the party (through the kindness of the owners), in an historic old adobe, now Gallatin's Restaurant, 500 Hartnell Street in Monterey. Our interest in both past and future should be stimulated by the thought that the wines which we will be tasting came from grapes some of whose ancestor-vines were brought or were sent to California to begin the great wine industry which is one of our State's proper prides. Some of the descendants of those vines have returned. I was once walking with my parents outside the walls of Carcassonne. We stopped to watch two French peasants, a man and his wife, who were planting vines. They told us with pride that the vines came "from far. From very far. From California." They were glad, as these vines would have escaped the phylloxera epidemic which had been so dangerous for French claret. That tiny incident seemed to me a microcosm of the history of the enrichment of our country by the emigration of Europeans and their enriched, if infrequent, return to their native lands.

I seem to be writing over-seriously about plans for a gay party, but I believe wine to be a great bulwark against the intemperance which all must deplore. For we do not drink wine for the "kick", as spirits are drunk. We drink it in small amounts for the pleasure of savoring its delicate flavor and bouquet, and for the delight of remembering its great and civilized history. When we first, as children, read stories from the Iliad we wondered at Homer's phrase the "wine-dark sea". In church we said or sang the psalm which tells of how "wine maketh glad the heart of man". Wine has, indeed, always been one of the symbols of human joy. In the making of wine there is much of the delight of artistic creation and there is artistic appreciation in the drinking of it. And those are delights that no wise person would lose by excess. That wine growers consider their work an art is proved by the fact that the best of them prefer the quality of the wine to the amount of the profit. My husband once telephoned to the office of a famous wine grower and asked if they also made a wine of another type. The reply was "Yes, but we recommend you to get ——'s (a rival grower's). It's better than ours." That is the spirit which has brought French and German wines to the excellence which we can sample on April 24. There will be ten great vintages of the best years. As I read their names I thought of what the wine industry has meant to France and to the world. I remembered going through

Chioggia Wins Again

Carmel artist, Donald Teague, has won another award with his painting, Chioggia. This time he was given the Newcastle Memorial Award in the annual American Watercolor Exhibition at the National Academy in New York. The award carries with it a cash prize of $175. This picture is the same one that was erroneously priced at $60 instead of $600 in the annual show of the Society of Western Artists in San Francisco last fall, and was purchased off the wall, but, fortunately, not removed from the gallery before the error was discovered, and so came back to the possession of Teague, who is the president of the Carmel Art Association. He has also exhibited this painting in the Carmel Gallery.

The young man's grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. Norman Fenton of Sacramento and Mrs. Claire V. Goodwin of Pebble Beach, wife of the president of the Pacific Coast Baseball League. No doubt young Lewis will be an ardent baseball fan before his proud and happy parents have really calmed down from his arrival.

Joyce McKinstry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul McKinstry of Carmel. Joyce is to be married to Arthur Biscoe on the afternoon of June 16 at 4:00 o'clock in a Quaker ceremony in the Friends Meeting House of Poughkeepsie, New York. Arthur Biscoe, Joyce's fiance is from Newton Center, Massachusetts, and is the son of Mrs. Maurice Biscoe of that city. He was graduated from Colorado College and received his master's degree from Columbia University.

Joyce, who grew up in Carmel was the first girl graduate of Carmel High School to receive the coveted Gold C award given annually to the outstanding graduate in all fields of attainment. She pursued her education at Russell Sage College in Troy, New York and Albany State Teachers' College.

Both young people are now on the staff of Oakwood School in Poughkeepsie. Joyce is the Dean of Girls and teaches chemistry, while her fiance is the instructor of physics and social studies.

Interesting is the fact that Joyce's future husband attended the Tularcitos School in Carmel Valley in his early youth, having spent a year in this area with his parents.

Easter Sunday was the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fiske Henning of San Jose, parents of Mrs. William Brown and Mrs. Paul Budd of Carmel and grandparents of Carla and Nicki Budd. Mrs. Brown and the Budds drove to San Jose on Friday to prepare for the Sunday afternoon reception for 125 persons. The Henning house was a bower of gold and bronze flowers for the occcasion, and the many cards of congratulation sent to the couple were also displayed about the rooms. The punch, cake and sandwiches which were served to the guests were prepared for the party by Mr. and Mrs. Henning's two daughters, who were assisted in their hostess duties by their husbands and Carla and Nicki Budd. The Carmel contingent returned home late Sunday night.

Beach Party

Among the pre-Easter social activities of the sixth grade group of Sunset School was the beach party and wienie roast given by Stephen Gray, son of Dr. and Mrs. K. Fillmore Gray, and Bruce Bennett, son of the Adrian Bennetts. Eighteen boys and girls helped these young men celebrate their twelfth birthdays. The group met at the Bennett home near the lagoon and followed treasure hunt clues to the River beach where Dr. and Mrs. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Bennett dispensed the hot dogs. After the eating activities Dr. Gray introduced a number of games followed by some rousing kickball matches. All voted the party a success and especially approved the idea of the two boys, close friends, celebrating together.

Houseguest with Boat

Neighbors of Frank Sampson were a little startled this week to see a super boat atop a trailer parked in his yard. His friend H. A. B. Sneve was on his way from Seattle to the Los Angeles Boat Show with a Bryant Voyager 21 super de luxe inboard boat called the Sea Trader. Sneve stopped over in Carmel to brighten up a bit of paint and apply other sundry last minute touches before he, the travelling boat salesman, set forth again on the highway. The Sea Trader was equipped with every gadget that could delight the boatman's heart. There was a life-saving pistol which shoots out 1500 feet of nylon rope if ever such a craft should come to grief. foam rubber mattresses in the bunks, a refrigerated galley, a head with toilet and shower, fishing chairs, aluminum skiff and a smaller child's model of the same skiff all this and much more fitted into the 28-foot craft, a boatman's dream come true.

Mona Sells Another Story

Mona Williams, Carmel writer, is full of gladsome news this week. First she has received word that her latest story is scheduled for almost immediate release by The Woman's Home Companion. It is entitled, Time of Change, and deals with the effect of divorce on teen-agers.

Chris will work doing drafting in the laboratory of 15 civilian scientists dealing with the stresses and strains, both physical and radio-active, for the foundations of the plant.

Cynthia Oakes' Wedding

The wedding of Cynthia Lenore Oakes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Oakes of Carmel, to H. William Lurton, last Saturday, was one of Carmel's loveliest. The ceremony took place at 5:00 o'clock in the Oakes' Carmel Hills home, which was decorated for the occasion with a profusion of spring blossoms. The bride, escorted by her father, entered the living room to the music of the Lohengrin march played on the harp by Mrs. Richard Catlin, who also played while the guests were assembling. The single ring ceremony was performed by Dr. K. Fillmore Gray in front of the fireplace, banked with green boughs, bridal wreath and orange blossoms. The young couple and Mr. and Mrs. Oakes received the guests following the wedding.

The bride wore a dusty pink cashmere suit with pearls and navy blue accessories and carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and fragrant lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Oakes helped her daughter receive the guests gowned in a pink satin-back crepe dress trimmed with bugle beads with which she wore a corsage of phalenopsis orchids.

The bridal supper was served at small tables decorated with pink and white camellias after which the bride and groom, showered with rice left for a brief honeymoon. On their return they will make their home in Fresno.

The new Mrs. Lurton formerly made her home in Beverly Hills where she was assistant to the director of Day Star Nursery School. Mr. Lurton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Lurton of Dow, Illinois, is the Central California sales representative for the Josten Yearbook Company. Both of the young people are graduates of Principia College in Elsah, Illinois.

Miss Jane Lurton of San Francisco represented the groom's parents who were unable to make the trip west at this time. Other out-of-town guests were Miss Julie Oakes of Beverly Hills, sister of the bride; a cousin, Maurice W. Angell, who flew his plane from Southern California; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Andrews, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. John Kneeland of Menlo Park.

Martin Flavin Flies Home

Over the Arctic circle with stops in Greenland and Winnipeg was the way Martin Flavin chose to come home to Carmel and he is full of enthusiasm for the Polar route to and from Europe, developed by the Scandinavians. Wonder of it all is that one relaxes in complete comfort with marvellous meals and service and the journey from Copenhagen to Los Angeles is completed in a little over 24 hours. While away Flavin explored Egypt and journeyed up the Nile above Khartoum, gathering writing material about this country under contemporary conditions. Rome he found as beautiful as ever, but truly was impressed by Greece and the Grecian people. Wandering about the Grecian isles, he found the inhabitants full of pride and dignity, hospitable and unafflicted with the rapacious qualities presently evident in some European peoples. He was accompanied on the trip by his wife, Connie, and his daughter, Flavia, who are still in Italy. Mrs. Flavin will be home in a few weeks but Flavia plans to spend some time in England before returning to Carmel.

Kippy Stuart celebrated Easter by inviting a group of friends to her home for bridge and supper on Sunday evening.

Commander Hayler Wed

Married on the afternoon of March 26 at the Camp Rucker, Alabama, post chapel were Barbara Englund Silliman, daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Frank Silliman, III, of Camp Rucker and Commander Robert W. Hayler, Jr., USN, son of Vice Admiral (Ret.) and Mrs. Robert W. Hayler of Carmel, Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Frederick E. Morse of Fort Leonard Wood, Missouri, officiating.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory taffeta gown with a portrait neckline, closely fitting long sleeves, long bodice, a bouffant skirt with a chapel train. Her veil was of illusion and Brussels rosepoint lace with a coronet of the same lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of feathered carnations and a white orchid.

Mrs. Lince C. Cook of Dallas, Texas, the bride's sister, was matron-of-honor. Another sister, Mrs. Edward T. Graham of Kingsville, Texas, and the groom's sister-in-law, Mrs. William B. Hayler, were bridesmaids. They were gowned alike in light blue embroidered organdy, carried bouquets of pink feather carnations with bandeaux to match, except for Mrs. Cook, whose bouquet included blue delphinium.

Lt. William B. Hayler served as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Cmdr. Hoke M. Sisk, Cmdr. Peter A. Griber, Lt. Edward T. Graham, Jr., and Maj. Dan A. McCartney.

The bride's mother wore a dress of grey lace with a picture hat, and Mrs. Hayler of Carmel, mother of the groom, was attired in navy blue taffeta with which she wore a white hat. Their flowers were purple orchids.

The reception was held in the Officer's Open Mess following the ceremony, 150 guests in attendance.

Following a honeymoon in the Bahamas, Commander and Mrs. Hayler will live in Washington, D. C., where Commander Hayler is in the office of the Chief of Naval Operations.

Arrow for Lee Geisen

Squaw Valley echoed to the enthusiastic shouts of the Jack Geisen clan last week when Lee, who used to be known in her younger days as Deedee, swept across the finish line at the juvenile ski races to win a bronze arrow, third award for fastest time on the three-quarter mile course. The award was duly received by the young lady that evening amidst much more applause and she can now hardly wait to get back and try for the next two arrows, the silver and the very difficult to attain, gold.

Culligan Soft Water Service of Carmel will become a sponsor of Home, NBC network television program every Friday, starting tomorrow. The program appears locally on Channel 5, from 11:00 to 12:00.

Allan Champe, local manager says that Culligan dealers across the country are cooperating with Culligan, Inc. to sponsor the program.

Home was launched by NBC a year ago to inform and entertain housewives. It tells the American homemaker about the latest and most interesting developments in food, family affairs, fashions, beauty, interior decoration, architecture, gardening, child care, and leisure entertainment.

Mr. Champe said the unique one hour show won several major awards during its first four months on the air. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

How the law of divine Love revealed by Christ Jesus offers mankind redemption from sin and limitation will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy, will include the following (19:6): "Jesus aided in reconciling man to God by giving man a truer sense of Love, the divine Principle of Jesus' teachings, and this truer sense of Love redeems man from the law of matter, sin, and death by the law of Spirit,—the law of divine Love."

The Golden Text is from Mark (10:45): "The Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many."

FLORALS AT MUSEUM

The Pacific Grove Museum is now displaying 12 colored kodachromes of California flowers by Brookings Tatum, talented California photographer. These are actually dye transfer enlargements and are part of a series of over 7,000 studies already made by Mr. Tatum in the process of covering the entire flora of California in pictorial form in its native habitat. He is both a scientist and a photographer and his flower studies are included in the permanent collection of the California State Library.

Captain Gleason, though he has no legal authority as assistant Civilian Defense director (this belongs to the mayor, as ex officio director), would be the key figure of Civilian Defense emergency activities, serving with Mayor Lyon as administrative assistant, coordinator and general field base. As it is, his Civilian Defense work has increased in scope to virtually a full time job, which gives the captain pause to reflect on the fact that he originally retired here just for peace, quiet, and try to bring his golf game down to the 80s before he's 80 himself. His career in the Navy dates way back to 1899, when he was graduated from the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis. From 1910 to 1920 he was in charge of naval construction at Mare Island ("The battleship California was one of my babies," he recalls with pride). He returned to the service following a stint of civilian industrial construction work to take up a World War II assignment in the Bay Area, where he was put in charge of converting merchant ships into military vessels, and retired permanently to Carmel in 1951. He is active in All Saints' Brotherhood and the American Legion, and was a candidate for the Carmel City Council in 1951.

Entertaining Friends For Road Race Week End?

Sports car enthusiasts will descend upon the Peninsula in throngs this week end for the sixth running of the Pebble Beach Road Races.

Many of you will be entertaining out-of-town friends, and many of you, no doubt, will be at your wit's end. (Whatever that means!) What to do? What to serve?

Pilot Market has the answer for you, whether it is to be a cocktail party, buffet or a picnic lunch to be taken out to the races on Sunday.

In our as yet unpublished Handy Guide for Maid or Matron we suggest, for your cocktail party, such canapes as: guacamole (highly-spiced avocado spread); paper-thin cucumber sandwiches; broiled "little pigs" wrapped in bacon, and other such delicacies.

We have been in business in Carmel for many years and are in a position to know the tastes of those who live here and those who visit. The hospitality of Carmel hostesses is unsurpassed and we feel it a privilege to serve them with quality foods at reasonable prices.

Now, to get on with this week end of entertainment, your buffet table will win friends and influence appetites with such things as cold, sliced turkey or roast beef, pots of savory beans or spaghetti, bowls of crisp salads, mounds of hot, crunchy bread or rolls. Mind you, we have all these at Pilot Market, and many more.

For your picnic lunch on Sunday at the races, we suggest cold fried chicken, potato salad or cole slaw, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, pickles and olives of course, cheese, fruit and cookies and thermos jugs of steaming hot coffee. (It's apt to get a bit chilly out there).

In other words, Pilot Market can supply you with everything necessary for your entertainment pleasure. And if you are "stay-at-homes", we can take care of you, too. How about a pot roast with vegetables cooking slowly in your oven next Sunday afternoon? Man, its enough to make your mouth water right now!

We can even take care of your dogs, cats or canaries. (Not that we expect them to go to the road races, but we just want you to know that we take care of the family pets, as well as the family itself.) Of course, Fido isn't allowed in the store to make his choice, but we know he will be pleased at the selection we carry at all times for his health and happiness.

So, bring in your shopping list and let our friendly and efficient clerks assist you in your shopping.

LOCAL CONCOURS D'ELEGANCE ENTRIES

Local cars which will vie with the visitors in displaying their charms at Saturday's Concours d'Elegance, 11:00 to 5:00 o'clock at Del Monte Lodge are: Derek Rayne's 1954 Jaguar, Dudley Wynkoop's 1955 Thunderbird, Richard G. Madeira's 1955 Volkswagen, Harrison Godwin's 1954 Fiat, C. Standlee Martin's 1954 A. C. Sports Tour, and Mrs. Derek Rayne's 1955 Arnolt-MG.

In the Pre-War European Class, Frank P. Tray's 1939 Jaguar SS-100 and Polly Gann's Austin London Taxi. Among the Vintage cars: Mrs. Fred J. Kane's 1899 Locomobile, Taylor Pillsbury's 1914 Ford and the oldest Buick in existence, the 1905 darling of Alton Walker's heart.

Parties for the Races

Nucleus of entertainment for the Road Races this weekend will be Pebble Beach where many of the out-of-town visitors will be wined and dined by local residents. Returning for the events will be Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. B. Morse, who have been on a three month tour of the West Indies aboard their yacht, The Vileehi. Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Richard Osborne will honor the judges of the Concours d'Elegance at a cocktail party. Their guests of honor will be Lucius Beebe of Virginia City, Ernest Gann and George Sclater-Booth of Pebble Beach, Peter de Paolo of Los Angeles and Dr. Norman Jensen and Denholm McKie of San Francisco. The Osbornes will also have as their weekend guests Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Mein of San Francisco and Mrs. Osborne's brother, John Boit Morse of Santa Barbara.

Others having weekend house parties are Mrs. Rodie M. Holt, Francis I. Brown, who will host a group of friends from Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Coe, the Hillyer Browns, the Gorham Knowles, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Work.

Sydney Hudson, daughter of the William L. Hudsons, has invited friends to meet her weekend guests at a cocktail party on Saturday evening. Those honored are to be Ruth McMahon, Dennie La Farge, Ellen Davies and Peggy Kirby, all from San Francisco. Colonel and Mrs. Harold Mack of Carmel are also honoring visitors on Saturday evening and have invited friends to meet their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. James Skinner of Marin County. Among those who will be present are the Arthur Hatelys, the Richard Osbornes, the Harry Hunts, Mr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Fish, Captain and Mrs. William Donnelly, Gorham Knowles and his guests, Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon Cooper.

Planning to hold picnics either along the course or in their nearby homes are the Victor Bergerons and the Arthur Hatelys.

Miles, always popular with the spectators, will be racing his new special MG. Phil Hill will pilot Allen Guiberson's Ferrari Monza, which placed second at Sebring last month. Phil won at Pebble Beach in 1950 in a Jaguar, the first year of the event, and again in 1953. Al Coppel, author of Hero Driver which will be filmed at Pebble Beach during the race this year, has entered his Osca. Lou Gageol of Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio, who has driven in most of the big races in this country and is also an internationally recognized speedboat driver, winner of the Gold Cup and many world records, will be on hand with his Fageol-Porshe. Johnny Von Neumann will have his Porsche 550 Spyder on the track. James R. Lowe of San Francisco, Regional Executive of the Sports Car Club of America and general chairman for the Pebble Beach Race, will drive his indomitable Frazer-Nash, which has competed in 25 races since June 1953, with 19 wins.

A tight circuit of 2.1 miles, Pebble Beach is primarily a test of maneuverability and acceleration, and skill in the driver. The six corners feature everything from 110 degree flat turns, sweeping bends, uphill and reverse-cambre corners to a downhill straight that is just long enough to delude the over-confident.

Saturday, April 16, will see the sixth display of elegant cars in the Pebble Beach Concours d'Elegance to be held in its beautiful setting on the terrace between Del Monte Lodge and the 18th hole of the famous Pebble Beach Golf Links. Judging by a group of outstanding judges including Lucius Beebe, Peter De Paolo, George Sclater-Booth, Ernest K. Gann, Denholm McKie and Dr. Norman Jenssen will commence at 12:30.

Proceeds from the week end of racing will benefit the American Cancer Society.

COOPER SOCIETY MEETING

The twenty-fifth annual meeting of the Cooper Ornithological Society will be held at Asilomar, April 21 to 23. Local ornithologist, Laidlaw Williams, will deliver a paper during the course of the meetings, reporting his studies on loon migrations. Three field trips will be offered those attending, one to the rocky coast, one to the coast range and mud flat habitats, and one offshore.
